This is the way to success..."

About the School of Design & Innovation

Established in 2021, the School of Design and Innovation is more than a teaching (and placement) machine. It is populated by learners and teachers who enjoy experimentation, inquiry, risk taking, and evidence-based research and decision making, who enjoy collaborative learning. We see design as ethical, inclusive, and democratic; and as an act, a product, an experience, and above all, a mindset.

The School of Design and Innovation is driven by

- An integrated approach to sustainability and caring for life and climate;
- The desire to play a central role in shaping discourse around transdisciplinary and inclusive approaches to design;
- The need to make sense of emergent knowledge paradigms and technologies in/for India.

SDI adopts an integrated approach to learning, which draws upon the fields of art, architecture, design, science, humanities, social science, engineering, economics, and other fields, and expects that its graduates will similarly find their place in a hybrid, fluid domain of action and intervention – as design practitioners, strategists, researchers, advisors, academics, and entrepreneurs.

SDI engages with industry in order to positively impact industry from within the academic space, as well as orient its students to being professionally and emotionally ready to be a part of the design industry and make lasting contributions as design thought leaders.

What does it mean to conduct research? All inquiries begin with a question: Why does the spoon appear bent in water? Why is the sky blue? Research is the process of finding answers to questions that intrigue us, by using a systematic method, which in academic parlance, is called the research method. We would like to find true answers to our questions, and not false ones. Hence, good research aims to eliminate cognitive biases and errors.

Research at RVU takes place along three axes: The research conducted by (A) PhD scholars, (B) faculty members, and (C) undergraduate and postgraduate students.

The Office of Research and Doctoral Studies (ORDS) is a University-level office, which leads the research initiatives of RVU. The ORDS is headed by the Dean of Research, whose team includes the Manager, Office of Research and Doctoral Studies, and the Research Coordinators of Schools.

Doctoral research: The Office of Research and Doctoral Studies at RVU coordinates the PhD programme at RVU. At present, there are 79 research scholars registered in doctoral studies programme. RVU's PhD programme is in compliance with the UGC (Minimum Standards and Procedures for Award of PhD Degree) Regulations, 2022.

Through biannual admissions cycles, the Office of Research and Doctoral Studies admits both part time and full time research scholars in the PhD programme. Full-time PhD scholars are eligible to apply for a doctoral research fellowship, in accordance with the Doctoral Research Fellowship Policy of the University.

RVU's part time PhD programme attracts senior working professionals from various sectors such as industry, law, medicine, academia, etc. Our part time PhD scholars formulate research questions based on their experience as working professionals in various sectors. Thus, they address actual problems in the industry and aim to solve them through their research, thereby bridging the gap between research and practice.

Faculty research: RVU faculty members, across the seven Schools of RVU, are active researchers in their respective domains. In addition, several faculty members head research centres. RVU currently has 23 research centres across the 7 Schools of the University.

UG / PG student research: Students have the option to be affiliated to research centres, where they can work with faculty members on research projects. Additionally, some UG and PG programmes have a research component.

Research Vision: The research vision of RVU is collaborative. We aim to encourage research that bridges the gap between academia and practice through the following kinds of research collaborations. Research collaborations between RVU and

- Academic partners, such as other Universities
- Industry partners
- Other sites where research takes place, such as NGOs and think tanks

Statutory and other bodies:

Constituted in accordance with the provisions in the RV University Act – Chapter IV, Clause (27), the Research and Innovation Council is the principal research and innovation committee of RV University.

The Research Ethics and Review Board (RERB) is constituted to ensure that research conducted by RVU Ph.D. scholars and faculty is ethical.

Aim / Objective	The envisioned center will have multiple divisions, allied student clubs, dedicated faculty, research scholars, and undergraduate and master's students performing societal research. The center will be mandated to give a thrust to student entrepreneurship and application-oriented products. The center currently focuses on: a) intellectual property protection (patents, GI, industrial designs, and trademarks); b) drug discovery and new drug development; c) undergraduate student research- games with purpose and d) training & entrepreneurship. All these divisions eventually envision to comprise of teaching assistants, research assistants, research associates, doctoral research scholars, allied faculty across schools, undergraduate students, student clubs, masters students, industry partners, collaborations through MOUs, and offer innovation, entrepreneurship & product development minor, and I&E courses
Research Areas	a) Intellectual property protection (PATENT/GI/DESIGN/TRADEMARK) Any credible invention needs to be patent-protected, and the complexity of invention is increasing daily. In-house capability for IP training, drafting, and protection is needed. Secondly, sections 3a to 3p of Indian patent act 1970 are non patentable subject matters in India and one of them interest to this group is section 3(k), the software inventions per se. The societal division of this will take up the Geographical indication (GI)-based community empowerment and outreach, and create empathy for India, its culture, and the need to empower fellow Indians through GI products.This division will be the single point of contact for entrepreneurs' IP needs. b) Drug discovery and new drug development Computational chemistry through methylene-linked molecules is the hope for the future. This division identifies possible combination drugs for evolving pathogens that comply with sections 3(d) and 3(e) of the patent act of India. The herbal & natural products of Indian origin will drive medical research of next century and there is increased consciousness of moving from active molecule isolation to possibility of natural product formulation either through food or herbal supplements. The current small molecule drug discovery lacks tools for in silico evaluation of herbal formulations and there is a strong need for combination molecule evaluations. Also, the herbal formulations need to be reasoned and interpreted for activity and the machine learning and deep learning tools could interpret and identify new formulations for existing as well as newer health challenges. Anti-aging formulations and "Cleopatra" perfume are of interest to this division. c) Undergraduate student research This division focuses on breaking down complex problems into research that undergraduates can find interest in, conceive, amenable, and complete with a purpose or role for society. Games with purpose will be the pedagogical approach and looks to build the capacity of entrepreneurial mindset among students. The division aims to promote faculty-student interaction for research, building a culture of problem discussion, rapid prototyping, adopting lean start-up strategies, adopting open-source projects, identifying specific external domain experts to guide projects, etc. The team imparts these techniques through gaming and gaming based pedagogy and pushes students to aspiring to deliver products in minimalistic time. The team essentially innovates on pedagogy for technical entrepreneurship and looks to build a technical entrepreneurial support system for students.

	d) Training & Entrepreneurship India needs technology entrepreneurs at various levels, and building entrepreneurial skills at our university is a necessity that could serve as a differentiator. This also necessitates focus on creation of research & training facilities for Sc/ST students, and evolving new research driven opportunities for rural students. This centre will invest 25% of its time in capacity building for students, scholars, and faculty, conducting external training and consultancy, and in due process, create enough intellectual capability to produce successful trained manpower and entrepreneurs.

The `Final Assessment' is the aggregate of CIE and the SEE. CIE is aimed at monitoring the progress of the student in each component of the course. SEE is the holistic indicator of the overall progress of the student covering the entire curriculum of the course. The regulations and policies for all types of assessments and relevant procedures are explained below. The detailed regulations are as follows:

2. Class Attendance Policy

Student-faculty engagement and interaction between the peers in class is a critical component of learning in the University. Presence in class is essential for effective learning. Students are expected to attend all scheduled classes in which they have registered. To ensure attendance in class, the following rules are employed.

Rules

1. 80% attendance in the sessions is mandatory in each course. 20% leeway has been provided to cover all social exigencies and medical contingencies.
2. Students remaining absent from classes for social exigencies and medical contingencies must inform the course faculty in writing and seek permission for the same. The permission from the faculty has to be confirmed by the Dean, at least one week in advance of the intended absence.
3. If the attendance of a student is less than 80%, the student will not be eligible for the Semester-End Examination (SEE) and will have to make-up for the loss of learning by attending the instruction sessions during make-up semester end of each academic year.
4. No leeway shall be given to students who have been suspended on disciplinary grounds.
5. The period of suspension will be taken into consideration while calculating the overall attendance of the student.
6. Students who are on official duty of the University, for instance, representing the University in student festivals, sports events, participation in competitions, will have to take prior permission from the Dean and the faculty in writing, at least two weeks in advance. Faculty have the right to require formal, written documentation, which may be in the form of a letter addressed to the faculty, from the Head of Student Activities giving details about the nature of the activity, period of absence, etc. If the period of absence is going to overlap with an important activity of the course (Sem-end exams for instance), permission may be denied.
7. If there is an absence due to official duties which is likely to be more than 25%, then the student has to drop some or all of the activities. If it is less than 25%, the student may engage in both activities, but the responsibility remains with the student to meet all course requirements.
8. The responsibility rests with the students who are absent due to extenuating circumstances such as representing the University in an official capacity, the death of a close family member, or a health-related incapacity, for meeting all class requirements and contacting the faculty member in a timely fashion about making up missed work. Faculty may offer such students reasonable assistance, if it is logistically feasible, in making up for missed classes.

9. In the event of classes being scheduled on important days of religious observance such as festivals, exemption from attending class may be given to students who wish to observe a religious day. The scope of this exemption is limited to the faculty not scheduling any major assessment activity on that day. This will be counted as an absence and should come from the 20% leeway in attendance provided for contingencies. Students planning to be absent from classes for this reason must first make a written request to the faculty and seek permission for the same. The permission from the faculty has to be confirmed by the Dean, at least four weeks in advance of the intended absence.
10. If a student voluntarily absents from attending classes for a continuous period of 5 days without due permission and information, a warning would be issued by the respective Deans. Repetition of voluntary absenteeism would call for escalation to the parents / guardian.

3. Continuous Internal Evaluation (CIE)

I. Class tests, quizzes, assignments, tutorials, viva-voce, laboratory assignments, hands-on tasks, field research work, case studies, project work, essay films, creative creations, etc., constitute an important component of CIE, and a student is expected to fulfill all these requirements as prescribed in the course outline. As recommended by the Academic Council, there will be a 70% weightage for CIE and a 30% weightage for SEE for all schools, and a 50:50 ratio for the core courses of B.A. LL.B. and B.B.A. LL.B..

II. Continuous Internal Evaluation of Absentees

I. Eligibility rules to appear for the summer semester examination for students who remained absent in their continuous internal evaluation component are as follows:
   A. If the student is absent on medical grounds /emergencies beyond the control of the student, the student must apply to the Programme Head/Dean giving the reason(s) for absence within 8 days of the conduct of the assessment along with the necessary documents and testimonials issued by the competent authority.
   B. If the student is absent due to participation in inter university events, state or national or international level events, training camp or coaching camp organized by authorized University or state or national or international bodies, NSS / NCC events / camps / cultural activities / sports activities / research festival or any other activities authenticated by the Programme Head/Dean, then generally the permission is granted to the student to appear for the additional assessments for continuous internal evaluation. Students should seek prior approval of the respective Dean for such a participation.
   C. Such engagements of the students should not be for more than a week, as far as possible.

II. The Dean, on scrutiny of the documents and testimonials, may grant permission to the student to appear for the additional assessments or any other appropriate evaluation method of continuous internal evaluation.
III. In the above-mentioned circumstances, the course faculty member is authorized to conduct an additional test/ assignment or any other appropriate evaluation for continuous internal evaluation.
IV. It is recommended that the additional test or assignment etc. must be conducted prior to the commencement of the comprehensive evaluation.
V. All the above decisions should be taken by the course faculty members in consultation with the Programme Head.

4. Semester-End Evaluation (SEE)

I. For the policies of Semester End Evaluation, all the following decisions should be taken by the Programme Head/ Dean in consultation with course faculty members in a school faculty meeting and be included in the respective course outlines.

II. Policy for Semester-End Evaluation (SEE)

A. All courses will necessarily and mandatorily have a comprehensive end semester evaluation component, which shall be conducted at the end of the course or at the end of the semester. This can be in the form of a written exam, project report submission, term paper submission, viva-voce, jury, performance, or any other suitable assessment in consultation with the Programme Head and as per the requirements of the course as mentioned in the course outline.
B. The contribution of the comprehensive evaluation to the overall evaluation shall be 30% as recommended by the Academic Council.
C. The comprehensive evaluation schedule shall be announced in the academic calendar and will be coordinated by the COE Office.
D. Students are permitted to appear in the examinations of only those courses for which they have registered at the beginning of the semester.
E. A student will be eligible for appearing in an examination, only if he/she has:
   a. Paid all dues owed to the University.
   b. Fulfilled attendance criteria.
   c. Not been disbarred from appearing in the examination as a result of disciplinary proceedings.
F. However, in case of extenuating circumstances such as a medical emergency or bereavement in the family because of which a student misses the SEE, they may request the Dean, stating the reasons for missing the examination, along with documentary evidence to buttress their claim.
G. Students are permitted to appear in the examinations if they do not have any backlog of courses as per the promotion policy described in the Academic Manual of the RV University.

5. Summer Semester Examination

Eligibility to appear for summer semester examination is as follows:

I. A student who does not appear i.e., remains absent in some or all the courses on medical grounds or for representing the RV University in sports, cultural activities, activities of NSS, NCC or sports training camps conducted by recognized bodies/ competent authorities or for any other reason which is considered valid under exceptional circumstances and to the satisfaction of the Programme Head and Dean, will be eligible for the summer semester examination.

Procedure for Summer Semester Examination

II. Students are required to fill in the summer semester examination form and pay the requisite amount as per the prevalent norms of the University per course as Summer Semester Examination fee to the finance office before appearing for additional examination.
III. The examination procedure is similar to that of the SEE.

OR

If a student fails in some or all the courses is eligible to appear for the summer semester examination

IV. Any student having Failed in Internals/Shortage of Attendance for any course will appear as "FI/SA" in the results. Student with FI/SA grade needs to earn the required attendance and CIE by registering for the respective courses during the summer semester.

6. Paper viewing process

I. A student who is dissatisfied with the results can view the answer booklet and raise the queries wherever he/she is not satisfied with the marks awarded. The student cannot apply for paper viewing of the continuous internal evaluation as well as practical-based comprehensive evaluation, like jury, practical, vice-voce, submission etc.
II. Paper viewing process is possible only for written assessment components of SEE.

7. Grades and Grading Policy

Aims

I. The aim of the grading system of RV University is to provide an accurate, reliable, and valid indicator of the student's performance in a course. The University is committed to ensuring that the grades awarded are consistent with international standards in order to facilitate inter-transferability of students and comparability of performance in courses across universities. To achieve these objectives, the system of letter grades has been adopted to give a qualitative measure of performance.
II. Applicability of the Grading System: These guidelines shall apply to all undergraduate and postgraduate level degree, diploma and certificate programmes under the credit system awarded by the University.

Examination and Assessment

I. The Higher Education Institutions are currently following various methods for examination and assessment suitable for the courses and programmes as approved by their respective statutory bodies. In assessing the performance of the students in examinations, the usual approach is to award marks based on the examinations conducted at various stages (continuous assessment, end-semester etc.,) in a semester and convert these marks to letter grades based on absolute or relative grading system and award the grades.
II. The University has adopted the following system to be implemented in awarding the grades and CGPA under the credit-based semester system.

Letter Grades and Grade Points:

I. Under the absolute grading, the marks are converted to grades based on pre-determined class intervals.
II. The University has adopted a 10-point grading system with the following letter grades and their corresponding grade points are given below:

Table 1: Grades and Grade Points

Undergraduate Degree	Postgraduate Degree	Letter Grade	Grade Point
90-100	90-100	O (Outstanding)	10
80-89	80-89	A+ (Excellent)	9
70-79	70-79	A (Very Good)	8
60-69	65-69	B+ (Good)	7
50-59	60-64	B (Above Average)	6
45-49	55-59	C (Average)	5
40-44	50-54	P (Pass)	4
< 40	< 50	F (Fail)	0
		Ab (Absent)	0
		I (Incomplete)	NA

Descriptive meaning of performance measures

I. Outstanding/Excellent (O, A+): The students are awarded this grade provided they consistently demonstrate a deep and critical understanding of the subject in terms of the learning outcomes. There is substantial originality and insight in identifying, generating, and communicating competing arguments, perspectives or problem-solving approaches; can analyze problems critically, provide their solutions and elaborate on their implications. There is ample evidence of the usage of creative approaches towards addressing the issues of discipline.
II. Very Good/Good (A, B+): These grades are awarded to students who demonstrate an ability to integrate and evaluate critical ideas, principles and theories. They have distinctive insight and ability in applying relevant skills and concepts with respect to the learning outcomes. There is demonstration of frequent originality though not substantial in defining and analyzing issues or problems and providing solutions. There is ample evidence of their understanding of the discipline as evidenced by their ability to communicate ideas with clarity of thought in terms of the conventions of the discipline.
III. Above Average/Average (B, C): These grades are assigned to students who provide evidence of learning that goes beyond replication of content knowledge or skills relevant to the learning outcomes. There is frequent demonstration of understanding of fundamental concepts in the field of study and can apply these concepts in a variety of contexts. They can argue convincingly by providing appropriate justification and can articulate ideas fluently in terms of the conventions of the discipline.
IV. Pass (P): These are barely pass grades, which are assigned to those who demonstrate an achievement of minimal learning outcomes. There is evidence of understanding and application of some aspects of the ideas of the discipline. They can do routine argumentation and solve simple elementary problems. They can argue convincingly in standard contexts and are aware of the conventions of the discipline.
V. Fail (F): This is a Fail grade, awarded when there is no evidence of attainment of even the minimal learning outcomes. There is missing or partial or superficial or faulty understanding and application of the fundamental concepts in the field of study; incomplete, confusing or lacking communication of ideas and have little knowledge of the conventions of the discipline.
VI. Incomplete (I): This is a temporary grade awarded when the student is yet to participate in some components of the assessment due to extenuating circumstances. This situation must be remedied at the earliest.
VII. Absent (Ab): This grade is assigned when there is failure to meet course requirements but an "I" grade is not appropriate.

Earned Credits

I. Credits are deemed to have been earned in a course if and only if the letter grade in the course is "P" or higher.

Semester Grade Point Average

I. The Semester Grade Point Average (SGPA) is a measure of student performance summarizing the academic achievement in a semester. It is a weighted average and is calculated as a ratio of total weighted grade points obtained by a student in various courses registered in a semester and the total course credits attempted in the semester. The weights are the credits.

II. The formula for calculating SGPA is:

$$SGPA = \frac{\sum_i C_i \cdot GP_i}{(\sum_i C_i)}$$

where C_i denotes the credits of the ith course, GP_i is the Grade Point corresponding to the letter grade obtained in the same course. The summation ($\sum$) is over all the courses attempted in the semester.

Cumulative Grade Point Average

I. The Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) is a summary measure of the performance of the student over multiple semesters. It is used to monitor progress of the student and determines academic status. Its calculation is similar to the SGPA except that it takes into consideration the attempted courses from all the semesters that the student has studied.

II. The formula for calculating CGPA is:

$$SGPA = \frac{\sum_i C_i \cdot GP_i}{(\sum_i C_i)}$$

where C_i denotes the credits of the ith course, GP_i is the Grade Point corresponding to the letter grade obtained in the same course. The summation ($\sum$) is over all the courses attempted across all the semesters.

Conditions on SGPA and CGPA Calculation

I. The SGPA and the CGPA will be rounded to two decimal places.

II. The SGPA and the CGPA will not be calculated if the grade of a course is on hold or an "I" grade is awarded in one or more courses till such time the grades are resolved.

III. Those students who have earned one or more "F" grades, their SGPA and CGPA will be calculated using normal procedures in the corresponding semester/s. Whenever these "F" grades are substituted by better grades during a subsequent semester, the SGPA and the CGPA of that semester as well as the subsequent semesters shall be re-calculated, and the grade report and transcript shall be updated.

Computation of SGPA and CGPA

I. The University has adopted the following procedure to compute the Semester Grade Point Average (SGPA) and Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA):

Illustration for SGPA

Course	Credit	Grade letter	Grade point	Credit Point (Credit x Grade)
Course 1	3	A	8	3 X 8 = 24
Course 2	4	B+	7	4 X 7 = 28
Course 3	t3	B	6	3 X 6 = 18
Course 4	3	O	10	3 X 10 = 30
Course 5	3	C	5	3 X 5 = 15
Course 6	4	B	6	4 X 6 = 24
Total	20			139

Thus, SGPA = 139/20 = 6.95

Illustration for SGPA

Semester 1	Semester 2	Semester 3	Semester 4
Credit : 20	Credit : 22	Credit : 25	Credit : 26
SGPA : 6.9	SGPA : 7.8	SGPA : 5.6	SGPA : 6.0

Semester 5	Semester 6	Semester 7	Semester 8
Credit : 26	Credit : 25	Credit : 25	Credit : 25
SGPA : 6.3	SGPA : 8.0	SGPA : 7.8	SGPA : 8.5

Thus, CGPA

$$= \frac{20x6.9 + 22x7.8 + 25x\ 5.6 + 26x6.0 + 26x6.3 + 25x\ 8.0 + 25x7.8 + 25x8.5}{194} = 7.09$$

II. Transcript (Format): Based on the above system on Letter grades, Grade points and SGPA and CGPA, the University will issue the Grade Report for each semester and a consolidated Transcript indicating the performance in all semesters.

Standard of Passing

I. A student must pass both internal and external examination separately and obtain minimum GP of 4. GP less than 4 will be treated as grade F (fail).

II. A student will be awarded the degree only if he/she has a CGPA of minimum 4.00 for all UG programmes and minimum 5.00 for all PG programmes on the completion of programme.

Incomplete (I) Grades

i. The Incomplete (I) grade is awarded to students who are unable to complete the course requirements in the allotted time due to medical or other extenuating circumstances.

ii. If the student wishes to be assigned an "I" grade, he/she has to make a written request stating the reasons, along with documentary proof if any, to the Dean's office with a copy to the faculty.

I. The Dean, after seeking the faculty's opinion, will decide on the request.

II. If the request is denied, then the grade will be calculated based on the assessed components.

III. It is the faculty's prerogative to assign an "I" grade.

IV. If the faculty has determined that the "I" grade can be resolved by completing the unfinished work outside of class, the following details will be submitted to the Dean's office:
   a. The proportion of work completed;
   b. Estimate of the grade earned by the student on the completed work;
   c. A description of the work that remains to be completed;
   d. A description of the method by which the student is to complete the unfinished work; and
   e. The due date by which the work must be completed.

V. Incomplete grades must be resolved by the stipulated time, failing which they will be automatically converted to a grade that corresponds to the assessed components that the student has attempted.

Example: If the student has missed 2 tests which have a weight of 20% each, the final grade will be determined by treating the score in the 2 tests to be zero.

VI. All "I" grades will be considered as "F" grades until they are resolved.

VII. Once the incomplete grade has been resolved, the student's academic record will be updated and the student's grade sheet for the semester in which the course was registered will reflect the new grade. Both the SGPA and the CGPA will be calculated for that semester.

Fail (F) grades:

i. An "F" grade is awarded for failure to achieve the minimum learning outcomes of the course.

ii. An "F" grade in a course does not add to the credits earned in the semester and the semester credits earned remain incomplete. SGPA and CGPA of that semester will not be calculated. That semester Grade Sheet will not have the SGPA & CGPA mentioned.

iii. An "F" grade in core courses must be necessarily removed.

iv. An "F" grade in a core requirement of the Minor stream of study (Minor Core), if not removed, will automatically result in the student's exit from the Minor programme.

v. An "F" grade in Continuous Internal Evaluation can be cleared by reappearing for certain components of assessment.

vi. An "F" grade in Semester-End Evaluation can be cleared by reappearing in the year-end Re-Examination as subsequent attempt. The resulting grade after the re-examination shall be restricted to be no better than a "C". Additional reexamination fees are applicable for every re-examination attempt.

vii. For a course where the "F" grade has been removed by re-examination, the student's record for the semester in which the course was conducted will be updated and the SGPA and the CGPA shall be calculated provided all "F" grades have been improved.

viii. If the "F" grade has been removed by a re-examination, the Grade Report and the Transcript will carry a notation indicating that the grade was obtained by means of a re-examination(s) in subsequent attempt.

ix. A maximum of two (2) additional attempts will be allowed to pass any course by means of re-examinations. A student who does not pass the course after two (2) re-examinations will have to re-register for the course.

x. The "F' grade must be removed by means of a re-examination within two (2) academic years from the year it was recorded.

xi. Failure to pass a Core course after 3 attempts (inclusive of repeating the course) will result in initiation of Academic dismissal proceedings against the student.

Repeat (R) Grades and/or Absent (Ab) Grades

i. The Repeat (R) grade is assigned to students who do not meet the minimum attendance requirements of the course.

ii. These students will be required to re-take the course whenever it is offered during an additional/ fast-track semester. Additional course fees will be applicable.

iii. The Absent (Ab) grade is assigned when the student has registered for a course but has not attended any classes in the course. This may occur due to the student having withdrawn from the programme or is on leave of absence after having enrolled in the courses.

iv. If a course is attempted again, the repeated course and its grade will appear on the grade report and the transcript for the semester where the course was scheduled, and the grades obtained in that attempt shall be utilized to calculate the SGPA and CGPA.

Grade Assignment Guidelines

i. The assessment of performance of all courses at the University is done on a continuous basis. The final grade in the course is based on the cumulative performance in all the evaluation components of the course.

ii. The "O" and "F" grades mark the boundaries between which all other grades reside. The cutoff score for the "F" grade would not be 40% for all UG programmes and 50% for all PG programmes. However, the cutoff score for the "O" grade shall be fixed based on "Outstanding Performance", which is a function of the difficulty level and fulfillment of course, objectives as envisaged by the faculty. Even the best performing student in the class may not be assigned this grade, if their performance does not fulfill the criteria of this grade. The remaining grades are assigned based on achievement of the learning objectives treating the "O" and "F" grades as comparison points and the resulting grade distribution has to fulfill the conditions laid out in the following clauses.

iii. For courses with class sizes of 30 and above, the grade distribution has to follow the following proportions:

Letter Grades	Range
O	0-5%
A+, A	5-25%
B+, B	40-60%
C	5-25%
P	0-5%

iv. For small classes, with strength between 10 to 20 students, an ideal distribution would be to have not less than 3 different letter grades being assigned, and for less than 10 students, a distribution of at least 2 different letter grades is desirable.

v. Notwithstanding the distribution of grades mentioned in in the relevant sections above the mean grade of the class shall not be better than a "B+".

vi. The grades of all courses shall be scrutinized, validated and if required, moderated, by the Dean of the respective School under whose aegis the course is offered before they are communicated to the students.

8. Disability Support Guidelines

This document provides information related to the procedure for availing academic support based on the recognized benchmark disabilities, provisions for academic support, confidentiality policy and the list of 21 benchmark disabilities.

Procedure for availing disability support

1. At the beginning of the semester, the Chairperson or the Member Secretary of the Disability Support Committee (DSC) sends an email to all students asking them to send in their applications to register for disability support services.
2. Students are required to fill out the DSC application form and meet with the Chairperson.
3. The chairperson upon reviewing the application refers the respective student to the medical officer at the Health Centre.
4. The medical officer meets the student, reviews the medical documents, assesses the nature and severity of the disability and suggests appropriate recommendations for support.
5. If the student has one or more of these conditions; Learning Disability, Intellectual Disability, Attention Deficit Disorder and Moderate to severe Psychological Conditions, the medical officer shall refer the student to the counsellor for further assessment of the condition/verification of diagnostic reports/recommendations for disability support.
6. On the basis of the medical officer's referral, the counsellor meets with the student. The counsellor on the basis of clinical observation & assessments and upon verification of the diagnostic reports makes suitable recommendations for the disability support.
7. The counsellor shares his/her observations and recommendations with the medical officer.

8. The medical officer upon reviewing the recommendations made by the counsellor, recommendations will be forwarded to the DSC
9. DSC shall then implement the recommendations by liaisoning with respective schools.

Note: All registrations for academic support under the category of 'mental illness' shall be reviewed from semester to semester and must be re-registered.

List of general recommendations for disability support for one or more of the listed conditions

Depending on the nature and severity of the disability condition, one or more of the following recommendations are made;

1. Allocation of separate examination hall
2. Compensatory time (additional 20 minutes per hour) in all written examinations including the mid-terms
3. Provision for scribe/reader/laptop/calculator for all written exams including the mid-terms
4. Exemptions from spelling mistakes, grammatical mistakes and illegibility of handwriting
5. Alternate assessments (usually in place of class room presentations for students with social anxiety)
6. Extension of deadlines (maximum one week) for assignment submissions
7. Provision for alternate course subject(s) (for some students with learning difficulties subjects related to mathematics or foreign languages are quite difficult)
8. Attendance leeway up to a maximum of 10% (only if the student requires it and it shall be made towards the end of the semester if the student is at the risk of getting debarred. This recommendation is usually made for students suffering from severe depression and those who are on psychiatric medications that might interfere with their normal daily routine including attending classes and submitting assignments on time)

DSC Confidentiality Policy

The Confidentiality Policy of the Disability Support Committee (DSC) at RV University has been developed to ensure that the confidentiality of disability-related records is preserved and so that students, parents, faculty, and staff understand how such records are handled.
Individuals choose to self-identify as having a disability. A student seeking accommodations must register with the Disability Support Committee. DSC respects the sensitive nature of the disclosure and works to provide appropriate accommodations for students while maintaining the highest level of confidentiality possible.

All information concerning student disabilities and accommodations is kept separately from student academic files. This information is confidential and will not be released to third parties without the student's written permission, except in the circumstances involving matters of health, safety, and law.

When students register with the DSC and request academic support, the issue arises as to what and how much information the faculty needs to know. By registering with DSC, students acknowledge and understand that, for DSC to coordinate, advise, or implement the recommendations for support, disclosure of student identifying information like name, school, batch, and courses in which the support is recommended along with the recommended support to the DSC school representative, Office of Academic Affairs of the particular school and concerned faculty members or appropriate administrators/staff may be necessary and/or required. However, information related to the nature of disability and diagnosis will be kept confidential, and access is only limited to the DSC Chairperson, DSC Member Secretary, attending Medical Officer and/or attending Counsellor.

DSC keeps student files for five years after the last activity (i.e., after graduation, after transferring, etc.). If you need access to your disability records, please get in touch with us, and we would be happy to provide you with copies from your file. After five years of inactivity, your file will be removed from our archives and shredded to protect confidentiality.

People with disabilities are often subject to discrimination, stigma, and misunderstanding. To protect the student from mistreatment, please keep the following in mind.

- Students with disabilities may choose to disclose details of their disability. However, faculty and staff are expected to maintain confidentiality and avoid unnecessarily drawing attention to the student's disability.
- Information shared by a student to be used specifically for arranging reasonable accommodations.
- Don't leave student disability information visible on your computer or in any printed format that others can see. Please dispose of it securely at the end of the semester.
- Do not discuss a student's disability status and accommodations in public or with others who do not have an "educational need to know."
- Don't assume that students registered with Disability Support Committee are aware of other students' disability status. Blind copy (BCC) students so they are not privy to other student's information, or better yet, send separate emails to each student.
- Do not tell other students that a student has a disability.
- Discuss recommendations for support and logistics of implementing recommendations with students in private. Make yourself available by email, during office hours, or by appointment to discuss.

Different Types of Disabilities: List of 21 Disabilities

There are innumerable types of disabilities that can affect a human being. Some of these conditions are more common than the others. Some of the types of disabilities are recognized by the government in order to provide disability benefits to the needy ones. Often people wonder what are the disabling conditions that are more prevalent. Here is the list of 21 benchmark disabilities that have been identified under the RPWD Act 2016 of India.

21 Types of Disabilities

Following is the list of 21 disabilities as per RPWD Act 2016. Please note that different countries may have identified a similar but not the same set of condition for providing benefits to persons with disabilities.

i. Blindness

Blindness is defined as the state of being sightless. A blind individual is unable to see. In a strict sense the word blindness denotes the condition of total blackness of vision with the inability of a person to distinguish darkness from bright light in either eye.

ii. Low-vision

Low-vision means a condition where a person has any of the following conditions, namely:

I. Visual acuity not exceeding 6/18 or less than 20/60 upto 3/60 or upto 10/200 (Snellen) in the better eye with best possible corrections; or
II. Limitation of the field of vision subtending an angle of less than 40 degree up to 10 degree.

iii. Leprosy Cured Persons

Leprosy, also known as Hansen's disease (HD), is a chronic infectious disease caused by a bacteria called Mycobacterium leprae. The disease mainly affects the skin, the peripheral nerves, mucosal surfaces of the upper respiratory tract and the eyes. Leprosy is known to occur at all ages ranging from early infancy to very old age. About 95% of people who contact M. Leprea do not develop the disease.

iv. Hearing Impairment

Hearing impairment is a partial or total inability to hear. It is a disability which is sub-divided in two categories of deaf and hard of hearing.

- "Deaf" means persons having 70 dB hearing loss in speech frequencies in both ears.
- "Hard of hearing" means person having 60 dB to 70 dB hearing loss in speech frequencies in both ears.

v. Locomotor Disability

Strictly speaking Locomotor Disability means problem in moving from one place to another – i.e. disability in legs. But, in general, it is taken as a disability related with bones, joints and muscles. It causes problems in person's movements (like walking, picking or holding things in hand etc.)

vi. Dwarfism

Dwarfism is a growth disorder characterized by shorter than average body height.

vii. Intellectual Disability

Intellectual disability, also known as general learning disability and mental retardation (MR), is a condition characterized by significant limitation both in intellectual functioning (reasoning, learning, problem solving) and in adaptive behavior which covers a range of every day, social and practical skills.

viii. Mental Illness

Mental illness or mental disorder refers to a substantial disorder of thinking, mood, perception, orientation or memory that grossly impairs judgment, behavior, capacity to recognize reality or ability to meet the ordinary demands of life. But it does not include retardation which is a condition of arrested or incomplete development of mind of a person, specially characterized by sub-normality of intelligence.

ix. Autism Spectrum Disorder

Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) is a neurological and developmental disorder which affects communication and behavior. Autism can be diagnosed at any age. But still it is called a "developmental disorder" because symptoms generally appear in the first two years of life. Autism affects affects the overall cognitive, emotional, social and physical health of the affected individual.

x. Cerebral Palsy

Cerebral Palsy (CP) is a disabling physical condition in which muscle coordination is impaired due to damage to the brain. It occurs at or before child birth. Cerebral Palsy is not a progressive condition; meaning it does not get worse with time. However, muscle disuse could increase the extent of disability over the period of time. At present there is no cure available for this condition.

Thus, Cerebral Palsy is incurable and life-long condition, at present.

xi. Muscular Dystrophy

Muscular Dystrophy (MD) is a group of neuromuscular genetic disorders that cause muscle weakness and overall loss of muscle mass. MD is a progressive condition; meaning that it gets worse with the passage of time.

xii. Chronic Neurological Conditions

Examples of Chronic Neurological Conditions:

1. Alzheimer's disease and Dementia
2. Parkinson's disease
3. Dystonia
4. ALS (Lou Gehrig's disease)
5. Huntington's disease
6. Neuromuscular disease

Sickle Cell Disease is a group of blood disorders that causes red blood cells (RBCs) to become sickle-shaped, misshapen and break down. The oxygen-carrying capacity of such misshapen RBCs reduce significantly. It is a genetically transferred disease. Red Blood Cells contain a protein called hemoglobin. This is the protein that binds oxygen and carry it to all the parts of the body.
